There's Cause For Concern

The unfortunate injury to Nancy Birbaum has stirred fresh concern traffic wise among residents of the St. Clair Ave. area.

Their fears more or less boil down to this: If there's danger at times now with the thoroughfare torn up as it is, what will it be like when the new three-lane highway is completed? Such fears are understandable - especially among those with children. The city administration and city police are fully aware as to the increasing traffic safety problem that will be theirs when the new stretch is opened and it can be assumed that everything possible will be done to keep things under control. But this must be remembered: While regrettable, there always are going to be traffic accidents and it is virtually impossible to have any given section patrolled at all times to the point where there will be none.

Saturday's accident brought out on e phase of traffic regulation that should be observed conscientiously at all times, be it on St. Clair Ave. or any other thoroughfare. When you're driving behind a busschool or commercial - under no circumstances pass the vehicle after it has stopped until there's absolute clear vision and absolutely no possibility of anyone, adult or child, darting into the path of your vehicle. This is a matter which must rest with the conscience of the individual motorist. "No Passing" and speed limit signs won't do the trick completely. It's

A few minutes lost are not nearly as

And while home instruction cannot eliminate accidents any more than can signs or legislation, parents along St. Clair and other heavily-traveled areas who have not already done so would do well to sit down once more with their children and review the hazards that go with crossing busy thoroughfares.

With more and more cars and with more and more modern highways beckoning, traffic safety continually becomes more complex and more demanding.

It's a three-pronged matter-strict observance of traffic rules by all motorists, not just some; extra special care on the part of the pedestrian, and all out enforcement of the law by officers and courts

This is in contrast with a cynical notion that the government must be on guard at all times to protect itself against its own citizens. It works the other way

The government must protect its citizens against their honesty. Only those who can afford the services of professional tax experts resolve all doubts in favor of themselves. The rest of us resolve doubts in favor of the government. This is one of the gross flaws of the federal income tax - this unexpected result of soaking the rich with progressively higher rates. The idea was to get the most feathers off the geese with the most

BUT ABOUT citizens too honest for their own good . .

We are the backbone of modern society. Without us, the social structure would fall apart.

There could be no easy credit, no allday parking, no vending machines, no unlocked doors - and no taxation as it exists in the United States today.

No one could turn his back on a suitcase, put out a washing on the line, or lock up a store without putting down steel shutters.

Open-stack libraries would be impossible. Everything would have to be bolted down or welded into place.

It would be out of the question to take anyone's word for anything. No checks could be cashed without positive indentification by several acquaintances.

No ones word would be good for anything.

Serve-yourself stores would be robbed has remained fairly constant since the NATO buildup begun during the Korean War. The Berlin crisis of 1961 brought several thousand additional soldiers and airmen to Europe, but most of the crisis units have now returned home. The growth of the West Ger-

And he didn't put Korea within the defensive perimeter. But he added something which certainly could apply to Korea but which his critics later ignored or found it convenient to forget.

He said: No one could guarantee other Pacific areas from attack but if it came the people attacked would have to depend first on their own resistance and then upon the "civilized world" through the United Nations.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur drew the same perimeter a few months later but Acheson's critics never seemed to remember that.

But after the North Korean Communists attacked South Korea in June 1950. Sens. Joseph McCarthy and Taft distorted Acheson's words by saying he had announced the United States would not defend Korea.

This distortion continued to be used against Acheson long afterwards. Actually, as soon as the Reds attacked on June 25, the United Nations called for a cease-fire. The Reds ignored

The next day, June 26, Truman ordered American forces to Korea and was immediately backed by the United Nations. This was when Truman also ordered Formosa defended. Truman had several thoughts about using the A-bomb in Korea. On July 27, three months before Red China got into the war, he said he wasn't even considering it After China rushed in, Tru-

House, Truman wrote that Mac-Arthur wanted to use the bomb when the Chinese came in. But. Truman said, that "might very well have brought on World War III."

Roosevelt And Johnson

By Raymond Moley

Several items have recently appeared in the newspaper and magazine press drawing attention to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and the early New years. These have been suggested as newsworthy by (a) the completion of President Johnson's first 100 days' dealings with Congress this year and (b) the 20th anniversary of Roosevelt's death.

Invariably, parallels or contrasts have been drawn between the events of the past and the present.

My views on this comparison may be pertinent, since in the Hundred Days of 1933 I served actively at the policy-making level in Washington, drafted most of Roosevelt's messages to Congress, and also served as a sort of manager of the legislative-executive relations.

A REVIEW of Roosevelt's 100 Days and LBJ's record suggests a few parallels but far more contrasts.

The two periods were alike in only two ways. LBJ and FDR were the beneficiaries of smashing victories at the polls in the two Novembers. Both presented ambitious programs to Congress. But here the parallel stops.

The objectives were widely different. Roosevelt was seeking recovery for a catastrophic dislocation of the economic system. LBJ is seeking to build upon an immense and humming economy the superstructure of a federal welfare state.

The Johnson measures were developed in the Kennedy administration in which he played an official part.

Roosevelt succeeded a Republican administration, and his measures were in part lifted from that administration-legislation which Hoover was either unwilling or unable to prevail upon Congress to enact.

There is a widespread impression that the 73rd Congress was a flock of sheep responsive to every caprice of the executive. That was not so. Its leading membership in both parties was superior in many ways to that of the present Congress.

ROOSEVELT'S relations with congressional leaders were cordial and cooperative. But he was far more restrained in dealing than LBJ is now.

Roosevelt realized full well that they knew much more of what had happened in Washington during the long Republican supremacy than he could have known in private life or as governor of New York. While there were many messages, the proposals Roosevelt advanced were in considerable part worked out in Congress Few were formulated in the White House and presented on a "must" basis. A brief mention of the most important measures enacted will show the contrast with the LBJ programs. The temporary banking measures were worked out by the hold-over people in the Hoover administration - people in the Treasury Department, the Federal Reserve Board and the Reconstruction Finance Corpora-

The permanent banking reform legislation was created by Sen. Carter Glass. The guarantee of bank deposits was added to it by the collaboration of Jesse Jones of the RFC, Vice President Garner and Sen. Arthur Vandenberg. The agricultural program was worked out by collaboration among Henry Wallace, Rex Tugwell, M. L. Wilson, and congressional committee

THE TVA was exclusively, as Roosevelt said, the "baby" of Sen. George Norris. The Securities Act was written in Sam Rayburn's House committee, with legal aid from two young men provided by Prof. Felix Frankfurter.

The National Industrial Recovery Act (NRA) was prepared by Gen. Hugh Johnson.

Relief, except for the CCC, which was Roosevelt's idea, was continuation of Hoover's grants to states The Economy Act had been introduced in the preceding Congress by Louis Douglas, then a House member from Arizona. For the most part, Roosevelt served to bring these measures before Congress

Drivers Cited At Salineville

SALINEVILLE - Ten district drivers were cited for stop sign or reckless operation charges over the weekend and a woman was arrested after her auto hit a parked car, Police Chief Ray Keister reported.

Agnes Bach of R. D. 2 was cited for reckless operation after her auto hit a parked car on W. Main St. at 6:40. She was charged by Deputy Marshal Gordon Sweeney. Cited Sunday by Chief Keister were Janice K. Lohman of R.D. 2 and William Galen Lewis of 115 Lisbon St., Wellsville, for stop sign violations, and William Dean Arnold of 407 9th St., Wellsville, Ernest Richard Johnson of Wellsville R. Sweeney cited Peter Tranovich of Youngstown for a stop sign violation yesterday, and Oscar R. Burns of Minerva for reckless operation at Routes 164 and 39.

Arrested Saturday were Lee D. Gravbner of Euclid Ave. Toronto; Harvey Orin Shuman of Bloomingdale R.D. and Dean Wesley Crawford of Minerva R. D. 2, all for stop sign viola-

Truckers Fined For Overweight

I'wo area truckers were fined $25 and costs each today in Municipal Court after entering guilty pleas to charges of operating trucks with overweight loads.

They were Lawrence Lee Linkous, 870 Township, Line Rd., Wellsville, and James Gail Smith of Irondale, who were cited in a State Highway Patrol check April 19 on Route 7. The loads were checked on portable scales set up at Routes 7 and 213, the patrol said.

The patrol said Linkous op-erated a truck weighing 20,690 pounds on a single axle in Wellsville, which is 1,690 pounds over the maximum allowable weight of 19,000 pounds.

Smith drove a truck near the Columbiana - Jefferson County border which weighed 32,865 pounds on two successive axles four feet apart, the patrol said. The maximum allowable weight is 31,500 pounds, the patrol said.

The largest single airplane hangar in the world is one at Orly Airport, in Paris, France.

It took those sophisticated French to finally come up with the first worthy replacement for the DC-3.

Those French! They've always been best known here for exports that come in drams, fifths, yards, and bikinis. Yet, now they've come up with one measured in tons and miles-the new NORD 262, first worthy replacement for America's old reliable DC-3.

Anything the DC-3 does, the prop-JET Nord does newer. It gets you there faster, and more comfortably. It's air conditioned. Pressurized. Boards on the level. According to the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board, the NORD 262 is a new aircraft "especially suited" for short haul routes of the type Lake Central flies to 50 mid-central U.S.A. cities. What's first-class comfort on a middle-class budget? Today's low-cost flameless electric heat.

Electric rates have come down 4 times in Costs of other fuels have gone up.

Compare today's low cost of clean, comfortable, trouble-free electric heating with the cost of the old-fashioned kind. It now costs little or nothing extra to enjoy modern worth-more electric heating.

That's why half of all new homes built in our service area have electric heat, and why thousands of older homes have already converted to electric.

See your nearest Ohio Power office for complete details. Or, ask any Reddy Kilowatt Electric Heating Dealer for a free estimate on converting your home to Flameless electric heat. And he'll give you a written guarantee on operating cost.

You won't want to settle for second best when you know how little it costs to go first-class.

Dear Ann: I spent the weekand prominent. Is something end with a relative in Montana A lov tily woman I've known for wrong with him — or with her? Opal was always lackadaisical and not what you'd call the world's best housekeeper. I didn't go there to inspect her house, however, and this is not what I'm writing about.

One afternoon Opal prepared a meat loaf. She called the dog in from outside and let him lick the bowl clean. I almost got sick. When Opal put the bowl in the dishwasher with the family's dishes I felt this was too much. I told her I thought it was a very unhealthful thing to do because dogs that run loose get into garbage cans and heaven knows what all.

She said I was out of my head that scalding water and soap will kill almost any germ. She seemed so positive that I'm eager to hear your answer.

Dear Sal: My answer wouldn't mean much, so I checked with an authority and got his answer.

A Chicago doctor of veterinary medicine said your Montana relative is correct that scalding water and soap will kill almost any germ. He said further that it's okay to let the dog lick the cooking bowl and then wash the bowl with the family dishes.

So, there's your answe Madame - right from the vet's mouth. I still wouldn't do it, regardless of who said it was all right, simply because the whole idea is repulsive to me.

With the 5,496 panes in the roof of the Astrodome painted white in an attempt to keep out the glare of the sun, the Astros defeated Pittsburgh 5-4 in 11 innings Sunday, completing the first test of the new system without any of 16 fly balls being dropped.

And it seemed like the problem had been solved. Paul Richards, general manager of the Astros, thought so. But there were dissenters.

"It is a lot better but there are still some problems," said Houston center fielder Jim Wynn. "I lost one ball but managed to find it."

"When the sun is really shining brightly I don't believe you'll be able to see the ball." said right fielder Roberto Clemente of the Pirates, who pointed out that the day was slightly

PITTSBURGH PIRATES rushed out on the field (upper photo) after second base umpire Ernie Smith ruled a long fly by Houston's Walt er Bond was a homer. The ball hit the top of the centerfield wall and bounced back onto the field. The Pirates argued it was not a home run and the decision was reversed and Bond ruled out when tagged at third base. In the bottom photo Manager Lum Harris (26) and Walt Bond (23) argue with the umpires but lost.

Auto Supply Tripped In Semi-Finals

Auto Body Supply, in quest of its third tournament erown was knocked from the running Wellsville Ruth Saturday night at Hanoverton.

Woodmere A. C. of Damascus, featuring ex-Ohio State and Ohio Conference stars, handed Auto Supply a 94-75 setback.

The Cleveland Jets won the championship with a 112-109 victory over the Woodmere A. C five in the finals.

Auto Supply trailed 40-39 at halftime as Woodmere pulled away in the late stages of the third period.

Barry Clemens, an Ohio Conference star from Ohio Wesleyan, led the Woodmere with 24 points while ex-Ohio State star Dick Reasbeck pitched in 17. Mickey Yogovich dropped in 19 points while Bill Mandy added 17 for Auto Supply.

Reasbeck was named most valuable player and received the high point trophy. Other members of the all-tourney team in-Government positions pay as high as $504.00 a month to start. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience. But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

VOLKSWAGEN 1965 used, has 4276 miles, just like wagen and save $$$, in every way every day. For instance no antifreeze, it's air cooled at 30° below zero. After your Volkswagen has been standing out all night it starts immediately. Can't boil (no water) aid cooled. Gas station attendants would be lonely people if every one owned a Volkswagen for they will run up to 400 miles on a tank full of gas or up to 42 miles per gallon on regular and use no oil between changes. Holds only 5 3/10 pints of the best oil, no throw away filter at $3.25 just thoroughly cleaned and replaced. Up to 100,-000 miles on tires if properly inflated and rotated. Low, low upkeep, no water pump, no universal joints, drive shaft, etc. or 1/2 the parts of the V-8 such as 4 cylinder 4 stroke rear engine, only 4 spark plugs, oilless generator, oil bath air cleaner, no throw away, only clean and replace. Why don't you take advantage of a car with little or no obsolescence, just constant improvements, 1965 Volkswagen has a heater, radio, turn signals, dual padded sun visors, hand grip windshield washer, increased vision all around by 15%, new wiper system, bigger brake cylinder means less pressure on pedal. Steering system is sealed. Requires no lubrication, new heater controls and bigger heater, warms up quicker when engine is cold Sun visor can be pivoted from side to side, back seat passenger has more leg room, also back seat folds down to give you 17.7 cubic foot luggage compartment his enough for a couple of trunks Many, many more improvements since 1952 at no extra $ $ $ to you Think of it and what hasn't gone sky high since 1952. Not Volkswagen still only $1595 P.O.E. and all for no money down on any model. Just good credit, up to 48 months if you qualify. No payment until May 27, 1965 don't forget. It operates for a penny a mile. Just compare anywhere dollar for dollar and you get so much more for so little. If you can afford $1.00 per day you cannot afford not to own a Volkswagen (definition THE PEOPLES CAR). Ask yourself why you own a costly car when a Volkswagen does it so economically and resale is so very very high and on some cars have so much depreciation to one year it would pay for a Volkswagen. Stop and ask the man or woman who owns one or your neighbor how he likes his Volkswagen and how much it costs to operate Then come in and see one of our most courteous salesmen and make him prove it. Ride it -Drive it - and see for yourself the greatest surprise you have had since TV, at

to classify the Polara with the low price three

True, Polara is in the low price range. It's a bigger car, about a quarter ton heavier, and its standard engine delivers about 30 more horsepower. Come on in and see how to step up in style without upping your car payments. The price

A Junior Editors Quiz About SEXTANTS

QUESTION: Why do globes and maps have lines, some across, some doing up and down? across, some going up and down?

BY WINSLOW HOMER

ANSWER: You can see two sets of these lines on the globe at upper left. One set, marked (1) go around the earth, some north of the equator, some south. These are called parallels of latitude and show distance north and south of the equator. The other set of lines, running north and south and joining at each of the poles, are meridians of latitude which show distances east and west from the zero or prime meridan, which runs through Greenwich, England. Distances along these lines are reckoned in degrees, there being 90 degrees between the equator and the North Pole. A degree can be divided into 60 minutes and a minute into 60 seconds.

The two seamen in this picture, on a ship out of sight of land, are making a practical use of this system. Using the instruments called sextants (3) the sailors can measure the angles between the sun or certain stars and the horizon. Comparing these with tables in a book they carry and making certain calculations, they can determine the exact latitude and longitude of the ship in degrees, and this position can be found on the ocean chart with its latitude and longitude lines, showing exactly where the ship is at the time.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look at a good map of your state to try to find the latitude and longitude of where you live. The upright longitude lines will be marked at top and bottom, the little circles meaning degrees. Latitude lines will be identified on the sides. Without such lines, mapmakers could not determine the precise location of places.

Robert Weyant of Ellwood City, Pa., wins this week's grand prize of a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.
